AUTO CRASHES, BURNS - FIVE INJURED

Clemson Cadets Hurt in Wreck of Speeding Car

Cromer, Driver of Car, and Johnson Seriously Hurt
In Crash

CAR DEMOLISHED

Five Clemson cadets were injured, two seriously, when the car in which they were riding turned over and burst in flames near Anderson, S. C., Monday night as the group was returning to college from an inspection trip to Tallulah Falls.

Cadet W. L. Cromer applied the brakes of his car, and the wet pavement caused them to lock, throwing the car into the ditch and igniting the gasoline from the burst tank. Cromer sustained a broken rib and a punctured lung.

Cadet P. D. Johnson was knocked unconscious and had to be pulled out of the wreck. His hands and face were severely burned.

Cadets D. C. Ellerbe, O. G. Donny, and B. G. Price received only minor injuries.

According to latest reports all five are doing nicely.

The car was destroyed.

LOWN TO PLAY

The Central Dance Association announces that it has secured the services of Bert Lown and his Hotel Biltmore orchestra for the Taps ball on the night of April 13.

The Biltmore orchestra, a 14 piece organization of artists, will be directed by Bert Lown in person. In the program he will feature Miss Gloria Faye, his torch singer.

Bert and his boys have an excellent reputation in New York where they spend most of their time.

At present they are South on a tour.

Tomorrow

BAND IS POPULAR

Clemson's sophomore class blazes out in all its glory as it sponsors the annual Sophomore Dance, in the field house tomorrow night from ten until—?

Jimmy Gunn and his twelve-piece radio broadcasting orchestra from Charlotte will play for the affair. Gunn recently played for Pan-Hellenics at P. C. and was quite popular. He will play in the mess-hall Friday evening.

The second year men are decorating the scene of the activity although the dance is under the supervision of the C. D. A.

Murphy, Way, and Wiggington are in charge of decorations.

RULES EXPLAINED

Since the last issue of THE TIGER, Blue Key has completed its plan for installation of a restrictive point system at Clemson. The fraternity submits to the corps for approval or disapproval the following plan, which was received in an open letter to THE TIGER last night.

"Before giving the actual ruling there are several points to be cleared; (1) The plan now submitted is by no means perfect and we realize it. We offer it as the best we are able to formulate at the present time. Improvements will have to be made from time to time by the trial and error method. Necessary changes can be made as necessity arises. (2) Military and athletic activities have been intentionally omitted since we are unable to de-

SPEAK TONIGHT ON
PHI PSI'S PROGRAMProminent Textile Leaders to Address Students and Faculty in YMCA

TIME, 7:30

Tonight, at 7:40 o'clock, in the YMCA club room Mr. R. W. Arrington and Mr. George P. Feindell, two prominent textile men of Greenville, will speak on subjects very vital to every future textile man, as a part of Phi Psi's monthly program.

Mr. Arrington, Vice-president of Union Bleachery, Greenville, and a member of the National Bleachers and Finishers Code Committee, will speak on "The NRA in the Textile Industry".

Mr. Feindell, chief chemist and technical advisor of Union Bleachery, Greenville, and chairman of the Textile Chemists and Colorists Association, will speak on "Water Treatment and Its Control".

These speakers are sponsored by Phi Psi, national honorary textile Fraternity, in the interest of better informed graduates from Clemson College. Everyone interested is invited.

WHAT THEY SAY

"The introduction of a restrictive plan is essential to the further development of leadership at Clemson. I recommend it most sincerely."—O. G. Rawls, President Junior Class.

"Blue Key has taken a great step forward in sponsoring the point system and presenting it for the approval of both faculty and corps. It is the hope of the Sophomore class officers that the corps will seriously consider the benefits of the point system and will endeavor to incorporate it into the college regulations."—T. K. Johnstone, Jr., President Sophomore Class.

"Speaking in behalf of the freshman class, I am highly in favor of the point system proposed by Blue Key."—H. E. Cochran, President Freshman Class.

"Besides relieving overburdened student leaders, the proposed plan should especially benefit those organizations whose activities have been limited because the officers have been unable to devote sufficient time to them.

"The Tiger Brotherhood extends its heartiest support to the Blue Key's plan to limit student honors."—J. Metz.—Secretary Tiger Brotherhood.

hood.

"The officers and members of the First Sergeants' Club wholeheartedly agree to the adoption of the point system of honor valuation as proposed by the members of Blue Key."—J. L. Cochran, President First Sergeants' Club.

"It's hard to imagine such a plan working with the percentage of dingle-pluckers as high as it is; nevertheless, if it succeeds, it will do much for cadets who otherwise would not have had the chance to show us what they can do."—J. H. Woodward, Jr., Captain-elect '35 Football Team.

After everyone had ridden the cable car down a 1300 foot slope, the group proceeded to Torrora. This is not as large nor has as much head as Tallulah but in itself large enough to supply a medium sized city with power.

The last plant inspected was Tug-aloo. Everyone attempted the climb to the top of the dam here, but most of them finally took a trail around the mountain to the bottom.

DELEGATION HEADED BY PROF. MARTIN TO ATTEND CONVENTION

Local Y Association Sends Sixteen Men to Inter-State Convention in Charlotte

Professor S. M. Martin, chairman of the Clemson College Y Advisory board for a number of years, will head a delegation of students and members of the faculty to the Inter-State Convention of the Y. M. C. A. in Charlotte, March 24 and 25.

Others in the group include Professor J. E. Hunter, P. B. Holtzendorff, Roy Cooper, Wade Perry, Bryce Latham, Bill McConnell, Dwight Chapin, John Lancaster, Karl Nuessner, Parker Mauldin, Scott Strange, Wallace Fridy, Sawyer Cooler, Kenneth McGee and Julian Metz.

The Y quartette will be on the program for the meetings of the convention and for the banquet the evening of the 24th.

For a number of years, the Clemson Association has been one of the most active in the South. Almost every year Clemson is well represented in the Conferences and Conventions both nationally, and in the South.

Spring Holidays Wednesday

Washington, D. C.—(IP)—A new youth movement is needed in the United States because college students as a whole are altogether "too smug, complacent and self-satisfied," Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace said here in addressing a national conference of students interested in politics.

"This Plan Is Good"

When interviewed last night, George W. Robinson, president of Blue Key made the following statement: "Clemson students when voting follow too closely the idea that 'he who has, gets'. They load down a few men with a majority of the available offices and as a result many capable men are deprived of offices. Blue Key hopes to aid the Corps in selecting a system to force a fair distribution of work and honor." (Story on page 1).

Military Science Quizzes Offer Large Field For Physiognomists

Students come to college to learn! (Please don't stop reading here.) Others come to learn from those that are learning (which is about as explicit as saying that the car to watch is the car behind the car in front of you). Both statements contain some element or truth, if not beauty!

A student of psychology or particularly one of physiognomy would pull an ecstatic fit if he could spend an hour in chapel some dreary Monday when the innocent freshmen and all-knowing sophomores are standing a military science quiz.

The beginning of the examination is nothing unusual. The crowd oozes through the entrance like so much toothpaste! They each grab a paper, and take a seat (alternate rows, two seats between, since these exams are conducted on the honor system).

Then things begin with the proverbial bang. The average apple-of-some-mother's-eye squints at his paper with a completely foreign look. He instinctively looks up to make sure that he is at the right quiz. He sees fellow classmates in front. He scratches his head, removing some vile-smelling brilliantine but no knowledge in regard to the use of flanking or enfilade fire on a cossack patrol six hundred yards to the left front.

In the process of five minutes or so, the dairy student (who someday hopes to put up a sign, "All that I am I owe to udders"), the chemistry student (who hopes to prove that there are 93 elements), the textile student (who is going to astonish the globe with his theory that the 2-up, 2-down twill is the basis of civilization)—all have grimaces on their countenances that would make any mother grab her child and run screaming for the flatfoot guardians of law and order.

Up to this point no one is individualistic. Things gradually change. One student finds, deep in the recesses of his limited grey matter, the answer to one question. He beams momentarily, then realizes that he has 19 more to guess at. Dejection. Another guess. Another answer. Temporary happiness. And so the cycle continues.

Some other leader-to-be of the world is not so fortunate. His eyes roam around the room looking for inspiration until they light on old John C.'s picture. But the old statesman decides that he has put in enough work, and so no help comes from this point.

The worldly lad besides the leader-to-be of the world is thinking of the advisability of beginning love letters: My dear sweetheart, and gentlemen of the jury. He flunks his quiz with a "what's one blue slip" attitude. His classmates say that he is smart, but doesn't give a d - -. A year later he is working for Stendert Erle and thinking of the advisability of beginning love letters: My dear sweetheart, and gentlemen of the jury. The gentleman beside the lad beside the leader-to-be of the world plainly gives up. He hasn't read the assignment and his thinking apparatus is as useful as a ship in dry dock. He turns in his paper and come out panting like a goldfish on a carpet, and cursing like a shanghaied mariner.

From aisle to aisle, the same wry faces, the same contorted countenances, all calling on the brain to respond with news which has never been injected into it. Some guess the answers, some toss a coin to see whether to insert a plus or minus sign. Others just give up without testing the Gods of Fortune. The majority get through college, and people comment on them: "He's smart; he's got a college degree 'n everything" (and everything it takes to ask, "fillerupmister").

B CLASS BASKETBALL TEAM TO BE DECIDED IN CURRENT CONTEST

League Organized for Men That Did Not Participate in Tournament

FINALS THURSDAY

A basketball tournament to determine the winning team of the "B" Class Co. basketball swung into action Thursday night and will continue through next Tuesday night.

Semi-finals will be played Monday night and championship game Thursday night. This league was organized for those men who did not get to participate in the recent Company basketball League just brought to a close.

The first attempt at a league of this sort has proved most successful. Eight companies entered teams in the league. Four games are played each day with approximately eighty men participating.

BENGAL PUGILIST

CLEMSON TRACKMEN DISPLAY PROMISE IN PRE-SEASON TRIALS

Howard's Protoges Cavort on Cinderpath as Old Sol Beams

Coach Howard's varsity tracksters showed promising pre-season form in the trials held on Rigg's Field last Saturday afternoon.

Led by Captain "Mountain Goat" Lynn, the cindermen "tore" up the track for such an early date in the training period.

In the sprints, Lynn led the field but was pushed by Ford, Robinson, and Tribble.

Simms, a new distance man, and Altman, veteran 2-miler, looked good in the long runs, while Ackis, Rawls, and Green led the hurdlers. Lipscombe tops the field men in a three-calibre role, pole vault, high jump, and broad jump.

Parks, Blackwell, Robinson, and Folger also showed up well in this department.

Big J. W. Winn clipped off the 440 in 56 seconds to assure him of service in that run, while little Bob Scott, last year frosh star, showed how the 1/2 mile was run. "Mule" Yarbrough took the mile in 5 minutes 15 seconds to shade Evans.

"Flower Girl" McConnell shone forth in the weight division along with Blackwell and Dillard.

Of the large field of freshman aspirants, the most promising are "King Kong" Bryant and Segars in the weights, Cobb in the 440, F. W. Herlong and Taylor in the sprints, and Craig and Massingale "topping the timbers".

That Old Tiger Spirit—Among Alumni, Faculty and Students
Adequate Buildings and Necessary Equipment for Clemson College

EDITORIAL

THE SYSTEM

There is at present in most colleges a tendency toward the heaping of honors on the head of the man that already holds many; from a psychological standpoint this probably is the result of normal functioning. From the standpoint of developing hidden talent in men its value is nil.

The new honors system which is proposed by Blue Key is explained at length in this issue. If this plan goes through it will rid the campus of the "handful" and spread the various honor positions among men that have latent possibilities.

ABOUT BLUE KEY

A great many Clemsonites have a somewhat mistaken conception of this plan, and its sponsor, Blue Key.

Strictly speaking, Blue Key is not ONE fraternity; it is composed of a representative group of student leaders who try to formulate and carry out, through the various organizations of the campus, ideas and plans that will prove of benefit to Clemson students.

Every school of the college is represented in Blue Key—in it are men majoring in Agriculture, Textiles, Engineering, Chemistry, Education, etc. If you will glance at an article in this issue which lists the achievements of the men that belong to this organization you will understand the worth of this group.

OUR POLICY

Let it be known that this paper caters to no fraternity, social or honorary, and to no school or faction of the college. If THE TIGER thinks that a plan merits the approval of the student body, regardless of its source, it shall back it. The "argumentum ad hominem" policy may hold sway in the minds of some of the staff of this publication, but this paper is not run by personal opinion.

We feel that this plan will aid the student body; therefore we back its sponsors.

MODERN ICARUSES

Sometime in the dim past, Daedalus and his son, Icarus, attempted a flight to Sicily. Icarus, not heeding his father's advice, flew too near the sun; the wax of his wings melted, and he fell into the sea and drowned.

Those of the student body who "know so much" that they can afford to sleep through chapel addresses or even read books during the speeches at the bi-weekly assemblies would do well to think of the myth and realize that people who "know it all" exist only in fairy tales.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

John D. Rockefeller's grandson has quit Yale to become a Standard Oil truck driver, so probably in time the company will have a president who will have risen from the ranks.

—Columbia Citizen.

A dispatch from Africa informs: "The Kenya game warden recently returned from Serengeti where he found lions playful and unafraid of man." —Yeah, but what about the man?

Shoot The Show

BY H. S. ASHMORE

FRIDAY—WHARF ANGEL

Sincerest apologies but I really couldn't get a thing on this picture. The title might mean anything, so I can't even make a scientific guess.

SATURDAY—

EVER IN MY HEART

If you can't go for Stanwyck, stay away from this one. It's a typical Stanwyck epic done with a heavy dash of melodrama. Barbara is married to a young German college professor just before the war and settles down for a happy married life. Comes the war and all their friends drop them because of her husband's nationality. Their little boy dies and this on top of all their other troubles causes her husband to leave her and go to Germany to fight on the side of his people. Eventually she discovers her husband as a spy in her camp. Of course she can't give him up so she compromises by spending the night with him and poisoning him the next morning. She then drinks the old hemlock herself which solves everything nicely. Support: Otto Kruger, who does a very nice job as the husband, and Ralph Bellamy.

MONDAY AND TUESDAY—

FOOTLIGHT PARADE

You have probably been waiting on this picture and no doubt the theatre will be jammed when it's run off, so whether I pan it or praise it, you're going (as if you ever paid any attention to these reviews). All the people you would expect to see are right here. Singing dancing and supper on the ground. The star of the piece is dear old James Cagney, who believe it or not, doesn't sock a single woman, but instead sings. That's pretty bad because after you hear him sing you'll heartily agree with me that he's a better chin socker. That cute little Ruby Keeler is in practically every scene, which helps a lot. The thing is lavishly done with a slew of song hits that are getting rather mildewed with age at this point, but which you'll start whistling all over again. The best are: "Honeymoon Hotel", "By a Waterfall", "Shanghai Lull", and "Sitting on a Backyard Fence". We'll just skip the plot, since it really doesn't matter anyway. Cast: J. Cagney, Joan Blondell, Frank McHugh, Ruby Keeler, Guy Kibbee, Dick Powell (that really can't be helped) and that funny, funny, man, Hugh Herbert.

WEDNESDAY—THE LAST TRAIL

There ought to be a law against it but since there's not I guess these things have to be run. Bang, bang, bang, the villain bites the dust and the customers bite their nails. The wild and wooly west served on toast or something. I didn't even bother to find out who was in this one and I haven't seen it but I would gladly tell you the plot if I didn't have a headache. Mayhaps in some far-away utopia there aren't any westerns. Anyway, we can pray.

THURSDAY—CAROLINA

Curse the luck! One of the very few pictures of the year that's worth seeing and you and you and you and what's more important, I will be home or somewhere for the Spring Holidays. In case you want to know, the scenes for the thing were taken around Charleston and it is supposed to be an authentic representation of Carolina as she was before the war, huh. Even Janet Gaynor can't ruin it, and she has ruined some mighty good pictures in her day. Lionel Barrymore and Franchot Tone are choice but you and I ain't gonna be here.

TALK OF THE TOWN

SPRING POME

It seems that spring just can't get by we literary men without our writing an ode or something to it. To quote a popular theory, we note from the writings on the sidewalks that spring is actually here, with robins twittering merrily in the trees and the biological urge urging on every side. So we started in with our customary vim and vigor to write a spring sonnet but we ended up with something that amazed even us. Accustomed as we are to our little eccentricities. Anyway here it is, with no apologies to Poe but plenty to the reader.

It was not so very long ago

In a house upon the moor,
That a maiden there lived whom you may know

By the name of Lily Moore;
And this maiden she lived with no other thought

Than to love and be loved by the corps.

They came in squads and she dated them all,

In this house upon the moor,
And they drank a drink that was more than a drink,

With the beautiful Lily Moore;
A drink that the imps of Hell
Coveted her and the corps.

And this was the reason that not long ago,

In this house upon the moor,
Lightning jumped out of the jar,
blinding,

The beautiful Lily Moore;
So that her high paid doctors came
And took her away from the corps,

To shut her in a small white room
In Keeley, away from the corps.

But even in death, we'll smell the sweet breath

Of the beautiful Lily Moore
And the gin never flows, but we see the red nose

Of the beautiful Lily Moore;!
And all the night tide with every delirium tremen

We drink again with this queen of all women,

In her house there on the moor,
At her bar there on the moor.

*The title given to the lady in question was used for the very excellent and obvious reason that it rhymed with "corps". If any Moore, let us assure you that you have our sincerest apologies.

Spring Holidays Wednesday

CONTRIBUTIONS

A runner just arrived bearing a page and a half of very sour stuff from some of the lads who wish to see their friends reamed. After reading the entire message we find, the gist of it concerns Sgt. Glasshead Anderson and Silver Streak (Lord Collings car).

It seems that Sgt. Glasshead took this song "Gather Lip Rouge While You May" literally and went forth and gathered some. Rumor hath it the Sargeant told the young lady that the town Anderson was named after him.

About Silver Streak, the reason you haven't been seeing "her" around much lately is that she fell in love with a telephone pole in Hendersonville and just can't tear herself away. There are the contributions and also a good example lesson in why this column is so lousy and what to do about it.

DANCE

In spite of the fact that you will all believe that we are in the pay of the C. D. A. we want to say a few words about this orchestra that's playing here for the dances this week-end. We've heard him and believe you us he's the best thing that's been here since Earl Hines. You will also be interested to hear that considerable bickering is being done with Casa Loma for the finals and that things look fairly hopeful.

Mr. R. K. O'Cain rounds up this story from somewhere and very decently turns it over to us, proving that a cooperative spirit does exist between we feature writers. Dr. Sherrill put the following question to his Ag. History class: Name the three types of religious motives. He got the following answer from his brightest pupil: There are two. (1) To set a new standard or goals for people to aim at. (2) To keep the good things they have learned. To be religious and good. To help people that are in need. So help me professor!

Ever hear of Alaska College? The basketball team recently made a trip which cost $1,200. Only eight of the students went home for the Christmas holidays, and they had to use dog sleds and such for transportation. On the shortest day of the year the sun shone only three hours and forty-two minutes. The moon didn't set; it simply went around in circles. What a night for a hop!

HIGHLAND OUTLOOK

Black Mountain College, an experimental institution, is controlled entirely by the faculty, with suggestions from an advisory council which they elect. Students at the college are divided into junior and senior division, each of which requires approximately two years to complete. There are no required subjects, but a faculty advisor helps the students select their courses. When the students feel proficient in the work of one division, they apply for an examination, presenting an outline of their work. If they are successful, they go into the senior division or are graduated.

BANQUET HELD IN Y IN HONOR OF FAMOUS SPEAKER AND WORKER

Dad Elliott Addresses Students and Members of Faculty Sunday Night

"Dad" Elliot delivered the third of a series of speeches to be given on the Clemson campus at a Faculty-Student banquet in the cafeteria of the Y last Sunday evening. "Dad's" speech was concerned with the different aspects of social problems of the college and university campuses of today. Many striking illustrations of typical situations were pointed out, and the significance of each was appropriately related. He told how the Y. M. C. A.'s of the various institutions could go a long way in the solving of these problems.

So impressive were the efforts that he put forth that both faculty members and students threw themselves whole-heartedly into the support of his plans.

Without vacuum tubes, Long Distance telephony would hardly be possible. But with these little tubes placed in "repeaters" or amplifiers at 50 mile intervals along the line—even a whisper carries from coast to coast!

With many tubes used in tandem, individual performance must be almost perfect—or cumulative distortion would render speech unintelligible. That today's Long Distance connections are so reliable and clear, is a tribute to the skill used in making Western Electric tubes.

Manufacturing nearly all Bell System apparatus, Western Electric contributes much to the quality of telephone service.

INTERESTING TALK

A. J. "Dad" Elliot, national secretary of the Y for a number of years, was the guest speaker at Vesper Services Sunday evening.

The center of thought for Dad's well-balanced talk was taken from the fourth chapter of James. Dad said that he was once asked by a prominent young man for three reasons why he should be a Christian.

The three reasons that Dad gave are: First, one should be a Christian because of the vital experience with God.

Second, one should be a Christian in order to have the right kind of influence.

Third, one should be a Christian in order to show an appreciation for what has been done for him by God and man.

ADDITIONS TO LIBRARY

"THE FLYING CARPET", by Richard Halliburton

"The Flying Carpet", written by Halliburton, who at the age of twenty-one swept the country with his "Royal Road to Romance", is an adventure told gaily and dramatically in a style of which Halliburton is master.

The title is taken from the name of the airplane in which Halliburton and a co-adventurer visited scores of fascinating spots of the earth. After practicing slave-trade at Timbuctoo unsuccessfully for a few months, the roamers forth again to tarry with the French Foreign Legion at Morocco.

They visited Arabia, Bagdad, Egypt and the Holy Land, and Mt. Everest, where they photographed the unrivaled pinnacle of the world's highest hill. During their sojourn with a tribe of Head Hunters, the flyers took the chief for a sky ride, which pleased him so much that he rewarded his guests with a dozen of his select human heads. A great book for those who like to lose themselves in romantic adventure.

OTHER RECENT ADDITIONS:

"The Great Illusion—1933", by Norman Angell. A timely new version of an internationally famous work, the classic statement of the real case against war.

"The Future Comes", a study of the New Deal, by Charles E. Beard and George H. E. Smith.

What if he dained to stick around until eleven when the Corps tucks itself beneath the wool to the tune of "Taps a la Call to Quarters?" Would he resume his stand at the portals of our institution? We wonder!

PONSELLE, MARTINI, STUECKGOLD TO SING POPULAR SONGS SOON

TIGER Advertisers Sponsor Radio Program Over CBS Thrice Weekly

3 GREAT SINGERS

Rosa Ponselle, world-famous soprano; Nino Martini, noted radio tenor; and Grete Stueckgold, popular concert singer, will sing the best loved American songs of yesterday and today in a new series of broadcasts to be heard three times weekly over the Columbia network, beginning Monday, April 2. A 40-piece orchestra and a chorus of 16 voices, directed by the nationally-known CBS conductor, Andre Kostelanetz, will accompany the vocalists and present unusual arrangements of modern dance tunes and balads.

Presented under the auspices of Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company, in behalf of Chesterfield Cigarettes, the programs will be broadcast from 9:00 to 9:30 p. m. EST, every Monday, Wednesday and Saturday. Miss Ponselle will hold the spotlight on Mondays; Martini will be the Saturday evening star. For the first week only Grete Stueckgold will be heard on Wednesday, with Martini taking the Saturday position.

Every program will be broadcast from the Columbia Radio Playhouse in New York, where the most modern technical equipment, including wide-range, high-fidelity microphones, will transmit the music and voices with an unparalleled richness of tone.

The three great singers will bring their unusual vocal talents to the presentation of many familiar and well-loved American songs, such as "Kiss Me Again", "Just a Song at Twilight", and "At the Bend of the River". Songs of more recent composition will also be included in the vocal programs.

Familiar arias from the most famous of operatic productions will form another portion of the vocal presentations with a special selection featured on each of the programs. Miss Ponselle, Martini, and Grete Stueckgold will sing numbers which have been associated with their names throughout their public careers.

The orchestral and choral interludes will be unique as performances of present-day popular music. Kostelanetz, whose scintillating arrangements of current tunes rank high in the favor of radio listeners throughout the country, has prepared special versions of many danceable melodies. An extraordinary feature of his orchestra will be the use of twenty-three string instruments out of the total of forty. This unusual setup will provide Kostelanetz with the opportunity of obtaining freshness and variation in every number. The gentle rhythms of the waltz will be given a premier position in each program with a special waltz melody included in every broadcast.

The programs have been designed to flow calmly from opening to closing in the manner Kostelanetz made popular, when he first presented a complete program without the usual announcements of number interrupting the musical continuity.

In the forthcoming series, both Miss Ponselle and Grete Stueckgold are taking part in a regular radio series for the first time.

CLEMSON SWIMMERS TO UPHOLD HONORS

SPORTS

TENNIS TEAM OPENS PRACTICE SESSION

BASEBALL

With only six more practice days left before the Tiger Diamonders meet Jack Coomb's Blue Devils, Coach Neely is still trying to pick a winning combination from the thirty-odd candidates with which to turn back the Methodists when they come here for two games on March 30 and 31.

At present it looks as if the Bengal Coach's ability will be taxed to its utmost to have a team on the field this season equal to the teams of the last two years, but, as a baseball coach, we rank Neely among the best in the Southern Conference and know that he'll have the best team available from his material when the Palmetto State race begins.

A CATCHER NEEDED

The addition of an experienced catcher to the squad at present would be no little asset to the team. The failure of Henry, last year's second string receiver, to return to school is responsible for the backstop shortage, but Neely is grooming a man from the several inexperienced prospects to take his place and Clemson may yet be well fortified in the receiving position.

TRACK

Judging from the trials held Saturday, Coach Howard has at least one outstanding man up from last year's freshman team to help in the conquest for the State track crown. This boy, Simms, looked like a natural distance runner when he finished the last half-lap of the two-mile jaunt sprinting number of offices that a student may hold."

D. W. Daniel.

"A recognized and established principle of democracy seems to be that the holding of office shall be limited for every individual who receives compensation therefrom to only one public office.

Student life is supposed to be as near like our normal activities as is possible. Therefore, for a democracy a large number of leaders will be needed. Then, does it seem inconsistent to say that the student leadership in college should be so well-balanced as to train, through experience, as many individuals as possible? Will not some plan similar to that being advocated by the Blue Key contribute toward the accomplishment of this goal?"

W. H. Washington.

"While there is no doubt of the educational value to a college man of extra-curricula activities, there is naturally a tendency to reward an active and efficient man with additional honors. Concentration of many honors on a few men takes too much of their time from college work and at the same time denies to others, less well known but possibly equally capable, the opportunity to develop leadership. Any method of distributing such education among a greater number of men would be fairer, and a step forward."

like a fresh man. Altman, last year's crack two-miler trailed him all the way.

In the dashes Lynn showed that he is still the old maestro, but Ford, a new man, was close behind him and should counter some points in the meets, if he keeps going at the same pace.

SWIMMING

This week-end will find the Tiger swimmers again seeking state championship honors. The state swimming meet held in Greenville Saturday will furnish them a chance to win the Palmetto cup for the second year in succession, and they are confident that they'll do just that. The Purple and Gold tanksters have already defeated two of the entries, Furman and P. C., twice this year, and the fourth contestant, College of Charleston, should give them no trouble. We're picking the Tigers to win handily.

TENNIS

The tennis team's first Tennis Match this season ended in a win for the Tigers, and even though it was only a practice engagement, the Sloan coached crew served notice that it will be in the running for state honors this year. The Bengals are preparing for matches with other college teams in the state in an effort to lay claim to the state title when the season ends.

With such an array of stars as Spann, Woodward, Sanders, Elliot, Latimer, Geer and Horton they should finish near the top.

F. H. H. Calhoun.

"Any organization worthy of existence on the Clemson Campus deserves all the time that its leaders have for student activities. If leadership is to be encouraged in the corps, offices must be distributed more widely."

H. W. Barre.

"No student body is so weak as to require that its entire affairs be conducted by a handful of its members, and no student is so strong as to be able to make his services available to every student movement. I, therefore heartily approve of any system which has for its aim the protection of the individual and the enrichment of the group."

vise any scheme at present by which they can be included. At some later date they may be installed, formulated. (3) The points assessed each office have been carefully considered, and in each case the present holders of the offices have been consulted and their approvals secured. (4) Student leaders and faculty members have been consulted as to this plan, and all urge its adoption by the corps. Elsewhere in this issue are published statements made by these men in regard to the subject. (5) This system should not be confused with the point system used by Blue Key as basis for membership. It is entirely different, and Blue Key will be forced to make drastic changes in its system in event that the corps adopts the restrictive point system.

The Plan:

Realizing as we do the great need for greater dispersion of officers and honors at Clemson, we, the Corps of Cadets, do adopt the following rules:

1. Each office on the campus is hereby assessed the following number of points: (Points will be found elsewhere in this issue).

2. No cadet may hold at any one time more than 15 points. He must refuse any office which gives him more than 15 points. These points are not accumulative over a period of years. They hold in effect only as long as the duration of the office. Points for senior offices shall not go into effect until beginning of the academic year.

3. No extra points shall be added for ex-officio positions.

4. A standard committee to serve for each college year shall act on the following:

a. Any organization desiring a change in the number of points assessed its offices may submit a unanimous petition of its members to the committee. Upon a unanimous approval of the committee the points may be changed as deemed best.

b. Any cadet believing himself deserving of more than 15 points may submit to the committee a petition for permission to accept an office which gives him more than 15 points. Unanimous approval from the committee is necessary for permission to hold more than 15 points.

c. Miscellaneous questions arising as to points may be submitted to the committee and their findings shall be final.

This committee shall be composed of the three faculty members as appointed by the President of the college and four cadets. The cadets shall be: President of Senior Class, President of Junior Class, President of the Y. M. C. A. and the Cadet Colonel.

This ruling shall be adopted upon a majority vote of the Corps of Cadets and an approval by the board of directors.

The Corps is asked to debate this question during the next week and to be prepared to vote on it in chapel on March 27. Attention to this article will be called to all cadets by companies. A special represent-

The factories are modern throughout. Even the air is changed every 4½ minutes.

When you smoke a Chesterfield you can be sure that there isn't a purer cigarette made.

In a letter to us an eminent scientist says: "Chesterfields are just as pure as the water you drink."

Inspectors examine Chesterfields as they come from the cigarette making machines and throw out any imperfect cigarettes.
